Subject: RE: Message from California to students in Paris

Dear Ms. Ollard,

Thank you and your students for your message and for joining the U.S. Mission to France in extending its deepest condolences to all the victims and their families in the wake of the November 13 tragedy in Paris. We have been heartened by the outpouring of compassion and sympathy by all of those who love France, and we are reminded of the deep and lasting friendship between France and the United States.

We reiterate President Obama's commitment to stand shoulder to shoulder with France during this difficult time, and we thank you for standing with us.

Middle schools are called "collèges" in French. In order to send a global message to the Board of Education in Paris, you may send an email to: ce.contact@ac-paris.fr , or if you look at this website page: <http://www.letudiant.fr/etudes/annuaire-des-colleges/academie-paris.html>, you will have a complete list of the middle schools.

However, you will have to click on the name of each school in order to obtain their addresses and in order to send emails, click on the entries: "Contactez nous par mail." It might be best to send faxes, since the email wizards are in French and are quite complex.

Sincerely,

Consular Section
